PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear CORS Members,

I hope you all had a great holiday season and wish you a wonderful year ahead. I am happy to report to you Council's progress on a number of important matters. The first phase of revamping our website is completed now. This included migration of members' data to a new dataset and adding the capability of online renewal of membership. The website is alive now and the online process has made the membership renewals faster. The membership numbers, especially student memberships, are up compared to that at this time last year and we hope this trend will continue. The second phase of website which includes database management and new design will start shortly.

An improved format for reporting our finances is adopted to make the reporting clear in terms of actual payments/ receipts and commitments that were made in prior year(s). In the new format, monthly activities regarding our receipts and expenses will be shown. Also, late receipts and previously committed expenses will be tracked in our income statement.

Council established an ad-hoc committee called "Industry Committee" in our face-to-face meeting in Toronto on Jan. 24th to work on improving industry participation and membership. The initial discussions on this matter indicated how it is tied to many of our activities and services including our journal, membership, conference, bulletin, website, local chapters and competition/ prizes. It was recognized that industry revival efforts should be part of our broader attempt of CORS branding and it should be in accordance with our other revamping efforts such as those for our journal and website. To start, the committee will look into the idea of 1) providing a lower membership fee for recent graduates and young professionals in order to have some incentives for them to be engaged with the society while they start their careers, and 2) offering some services valuable to industry through for example our practice prize competition, journal and bulletin. Please share your ideas and comments on industry revival with us. The committee's plan is to have some proposals to our members at the AGM this year.

INFOR editors were successful in raising funds from their institutions to support editorial activities and they have been in contact with top publishers and have been assessing options for manuscript submission system. I would like to encourage you again to submit your top quality papers to INFOR.

The CORS/INFORMS International Conference is right on track. Abstract submission deadline is beginning of February and the schedule will be finalized soon. The nominees for the Larnder and Solandt awards are approved by Council. We anticipate the conference will attract many participants and look forward to seeing you all in Montreal.

At the end, I would like to draw your attention to the nominations for different Council positions in this issue of the bulletin.

Best wishes,

Taraneh Sowlati

Purpose: The Practice Prize Competition recognizes the outstanding application of OR by practitioners in Canada and it attracts quality papers to the CORS Annual Conference.

Every member of an award winning teams receives a certificate. The Price Committee will be made up of at least three past (first place) winners of the Practice Prize. CORS Council will select the Chief Judge and the Chief Judge will select the remaining judges, usually after receipt of the applications.

Eligibility: The applicant must be a resident of Canada. The submission must include work completed over the two year period prior to the application deadline, but the entire project may have taken place over a longer period. The project may include published work, but it cannot have been previously submitted to this competition.

The Process

1. By March 31, 2015 email a single pdf file to the Chief Judge, Rick Caron (rcaron@uwindsor.ca). The file is to include:
 - a. A detailed written report, not exceeding 25 pages, presenting a "case history" of the project describing its development from start to finish and focussing on the challenges and results.
 - b. A Letter from an executive of the client organization describing the impact of the project and giving permission for the project to be presented at the CORS National Conference.
2. By April 15, 2015 the Judging Committee will select up to three finalists according to the following criteria:
 - a. The extent to which the finalists have reported on a completed, practical application with results that had a significant, verifiable and (preferably) quantifiable impact on the performance of the client organization.
 - b. The challenge of the application of OR and the significance of the problem.
 - c. The quality of the analysis and modeling, and implementation of the results.
 - d. The impact on the client organization.
3. By April 30, 2015 the finalists must provide:
 - a. A list of all team members and their affiliations, a project title, and an abstract for publication in the Conference Program. The person(s) presenting the application at the conference must be indicated.
 - b. A one page summary of the project for publication in the CORS Bulletin.
4. The applicant must present the project at the Practice Prize Sessions at the CORS National Conference in Montreal (June 14-17, 2015).

Judging: The judges will determine the prizes, if any, to be awarded on the basis of the written report, the letter from the client organization, and the presentation including the question answer period. The award winners will be announced at the Conference Banquet.

CORS STUDENT PAPER COMPETITION

Each year the Canadian Operational Research Society conducts a student paper competition to recognize the contribution of a paper either directly to the field of operational research through the development of methodology or to another field through the application of operational research. Prizes are awarded in two categories: Undergraduate and Open.

Application Process

Requirements

The applicant must be enrolled as a full-time student in a Canadian institution, in an undergraduate, masters, or PhD program during the school year 2014 to 2015. Canadians who are studying outside of Canada are also eligible. Applicants in undergraduate programs are eligible to apply in both categories: Open and Undergraduate.

To be eligible for First Prize or Honourable Mention, selected articles must be presented at the 2015 annual conference. This rule applies to both categories: Open and Undergraduate.

 - The first page would be a blind title page containing the title, an abstract, and key words. Ensure the manuscript is blind throughout. Also remove journal identifiers.
3. A letter of support from the supervisor indicating that the student is the main author of the paper (does not have to be first) meaning he/she has carried out the majority of the work.

Once the submission has been completed, the Competition Chair will email the student indicating the status of the manuscript.

Selection Criteria:

CORS SPECIAL INTEREST GROUPS (SIGs)

CORS Council approved a policy on Special Interest Groups (SIGs). A SIG provides a mechanism to promote CORS, the SIG area and the SIG members, as well as the opportunity for CORS members with common interests to interact and network.

SIGs formed so far include:

- CORS Queueing Theory SIG: contact Doug Down (downd@univmail.cis.mcmaster.ca, McMaster University, Department of Computing and Software).
- CORS Health Care Operational Research SIG: contact John Blake (john.blake@dal.ca, Dalhousie University, Department of Industrial Engineering).
- CORS Forestry SIG: contact Jean-François Audy (Jean-Francois.Audy@cirrelt.ca, Researcher & Network Liaison Manager at the NSERC Strategic Research Network on Value Chain Optimization), or go to <http://cors-forestrysig.pieorswirls.com/>.

If you would like to join a SIG, contact the persons listed above, or simply indicate that you would like to join when you renew your CORS membership.

CORS encourages members with common interest in an area within or related to operational research to form additional SIGs. More information about SIGs can be found online at <http://www.cors.ca/en/membership/index.php>. Discussions are underway about forming SIGs in several additional areas. If you are interested in forming a SIG in a particular area, then feel free to contact the CORS SIG Committee Chair: Fredrik Odegaard (fodegaard@ivey.uwo.ca).

CORS SIG NEWS

Forestry

The Forestry SIG encourage contributions to the OR in Forestry Cluster during the 2015 CORS/INFORMS Joint Conference. Jean-François Audy and Mikael Rönnqvist team up again this year for co-chairing this cluster. The released call proposes the following sessions: Forest Management Planning; OR Applications in Forestry; Forest Management Planning under Uncertainty; Management of Forest Bioenergy Value Chains; OR in the Forest Products Sector; Forest Fire Management and Supply Chain Analysis; Transportation and Wood Handling; and Educational tools in OR/MS applied to the Forest Sector. Please let them know if you would like to organize another session topic or to chair one of them (special welcome to junior researchers).

The Forestry SIG also encourage student's paper submissions to the 2nd edition of the David Martell Student Paper Prize in Forestry. See competition details at <http://meetings2.informs.org/montreal2015/competitions.html> and please note the February 15th submission EXTENDED deadline.

Following the FSIG bylaws, a new President must be elected in 2015. On behalf of the FSIG, I would like to acknowledge the Election Committee composed by Mustapha Ouhimmou and Reino Pulkki that will handle this democratic election process leading to an announcement at the next annual meeting. All FSIG members are more than advised to pay special attention to their upcoming communications in that regard. Your prompt collaboration is critical for the successful election of a new President: an essential 'orchestrator' for the FSIG affairs. If you would like to join the Forestry SIG, please contact its President, Jean-François Audy (jean-francois.audy@uqtr.ca).

Queueing

Planning is in the works for the Queueing Cluster at the joint CORS/INFORMS Meeting in Montreal - if you are interested in giving a talk, please contact Doug Down (downd@mcmaster.ca). We will do our best to get you on the schedule!

For those attending the Montreal meeting, please join us at our Business Meeting. Highlights include the presentation of the Student Paper Prize.

Mark your calendars for this year's edition of CanQueue, taking place at Dalhousie on September 3rd and 4th. Peter Vanberkel and David Stanford are the organizers. Details can be found at <http://www.dal.ca/faculty/engineering/industrial/canqueue-2015.html>
